PUBLISHED BOOKS

Ancestoring Monograph Series-Special Book Publications

- 1 Quaker Records in Georgia by Robert S Davis, 1986
 Records of the Quaker inhabitants of Wrightsborough Township, 1772-1793, and of the Manson Colony at Friendsborough in 1776-77. The Wrightsborough portion includes Monthly Meeting records, birth and burial records, and land grants. Manson Colony records include land grants, a ships list of indentured servants, and the Manson & Chapman Copartnership account book for 1775-1779. $50 ($40 for members)

- 3 1860 Edgefield SC Census by Margaret Vaughn McKinney
 In 1860 Edgefield County included parts of what are now Aiken, Greenwood, McCormick and Saluda Counties. This census shows where many who had emigrated down the Great Wagon Road were living just before the upheaval of the Civil War. As with the Abbeville census, efforts were made to transcribe the microfilm records exactly, even including variations in spelling the surnames of members of the same family. This census covers some 3000 households.

- 4 Summerville Cemetery by AGS Cemetery Committee, 1990
 The cemetery for the Village of Summerville, now part of Augusta, was established in 1824 to serve the "movers and shakers" of the area. This volume provides the tombstone inscriptions for about 1500 graves, and is the only such record since there is no burial list for the cemetery. Included are cemetery maps and photographs of the more interesting crypts and tombstones. Out of Print

- 5 1860 Abbeville SC Census by Margaret Vaughn McKinney, 1991
 In 1860 Abbeville County included parts of what are now Greenwood and McCormick Counties. At that time the residents included many Huguenot and other emigrants who came via the Great Wagon Road from Pa., Md. And Va. All details recorded by the enumerators were transcribed, without alteration, from the census microfilm in the National Archives.

- 6 Ancestoring I thru X Index by T. Theodore Thompson
 This index for the first ten volumes of Ancestoring has an all name plus topical and location indexes. For conveniences, the tables of contents for each volume are shown at the beginning of the book. Out of Print

- 7 Irish Nativities In Magnolia Cemetery by AGS Cemetery Committee, 1991
 These records were compiled at the request of Dr. Brian Trainor, then Director of the Public Record Office for Northern Ireland, after he was shown how many Irish immigrants had settled in the Augusta area. The tombstone inscriptions are keyed to maps of the cemetery. The Sextons' records reproduced in this book, which cover the period 1817 to 1900, are for those persons known to have been born in Ireland.

- 8 Index to City Directories of Augusta, Georgia 1841-1879 by A. Ray Rowland
This index begins with the first published Augusta directory, "The Augusta Directory and City Advertiser for 1841" and includes all extant directories for 1841, 1859, 1861, 1865-6, 1867, 1872, 1874-75, and 1879. Originals or copies of all the directories are housed in the Reese Library at Augusta University and are also available at the Augusta-Richmond County Public Library. Microfilm copies are also available. A 53 page companion publication, Catalog of the Augusta (GA) City Directory, 1841-1939, by Alice O. Walker, has been published by and is available through the Augusta-Richmond County Public Library. Out of Print

Southern Echoes Monograph Series-Special Book Publications

- 1 When Your Ox is in a Ditch by Vera McDowell, 1992
This book of 124 genealogical how-to letters consists of updated versions of "letters" that were published in Southern Echoes. They cover about every situation or bind that a family historian or genealogist can get into. The letters are arranged in 13 chapters for various categories of problems. $9 ($5 for members)

Summerville Cemetery 2012 Edition

This book is the story of a historical cemetery in Richmond County, Georgia. This hard-bound book contains the original 1990 publication (see AMS-4 above), an addendum that contains the 2012 survey of new headstones, corrections to the original publication, and an all-name index covering the original book and the addendum. $43 ($25 for members)
